

FASHION MARKETING (FMRK)

This is a list of the Fashion Marketing (FMRK) courses available at KPU.

FMRK 1105 CR-3

Computer Applications for Fashion Marketing

Students will examine the role of computers in the business world of fashion. They will be introduced to the Microsoft Windows operating system, and will use the Internet and the Microsoft Office spreadsheet, presentation and word processing software to develop solutions for fashion-related business activities. Students will explore the capabilities of Adobe Photoshop® using various tools and techniques to create fashion marketing-related artwork. They will use Adobe InDesign® to design and build layouts and create print materials.

Co-requisites: FMRK 1115 FMRK 1115

FMRK 1115 CR-2.5

The Apparel Market

Students will acquire an historical awareness of the apparel industry and the current workings of the industry in local, national and global contexts. They will learn to identify the sectors of the industry from raw materials through to design, production and marketing to the consumer. Through market research students will explore and attend events, network with store owners and develop job contacts for marketing related opportunities. They will also explore a variety of careers available in design and marketing and how these positions interrelate.

Note: This course is identical to FASN 1115. Students will not be able to earn credits for more than one of FASN 1115 or FMRK 1115.

Co-requisites: FMRK 1105 FMRK 1105

FMRK 1150 CR-2

Fashion Retail Work Experience

Students will work 80 hours, paid or volunteer, to gain an understanding of the retail component of fashion in order to further their fashion marketing knowledge and skills. They will provide evidence of their learning in journal form, self assessment, and reference letters.

Note: This course is identical to FASN 1150. Students will not be able to earn credits for more than one of FASN 1150 or FMRK 1150.

FMRK 1205 CR-3

Visual Communication for Fashion Marketing

Students will develop their fashion communication skills in a visual context. They will explore the fundamental elements and principles of design, and apply them to current visual fashion marketing strategies. Students will experiment with concepts of layout using fashion figures, terminology, and fashion product such as apparel and accessories. They will create a variety of fashion marketing images to increase their visual literacy in relation to prevailing industry formats.

Prerequisites: FMRK 1105 and FMRK 1115 or FASN 1115

Co-requisites: MRKT 1199 MRKT 1199

FMRK 1215 CR-3

Textile Science

Students will develop their knowledge of how fabrics are created and used, and will be able to apply that understanding to make appropriate fabric choices in design and production. They will learn how factors such as industry issues, sourcing practices, labeling laws, fabric finishes and care instructions affect design, production and marketing decisions.

Note: Students may get credit for only one of FMRK 1215 or FASN 1215.

Prerequisites: FMRK 1115 or FASN 1115

FMRK 1250 CR-3

Fashion and Consumers

Students will study the supply and demand for fashion products and services and business opportunities for local retail and wholesale markets. They will practice matching consumer preferences to finished product. Students will investigate job opportunities and entrepreneurial ventures in sales and marketing and explore local fashion districts. They will research, write market reports and present a marketing plan for a new start-up fashion business.

Note: Students may earn credits for only one of FMRK 1250 or FMRK 2250 or FASN 2250 as they are equivalent courses.

Prerequisites: FMRK 1105 and FMRK 1115 and FMRK 1150

FMRK 2105 CR-3

Visual Fashion Merchandising and Promotion

Students will explore visual concepts of fashion marketing and promotion in 2-dimensional and 3-dimensional formats. They will interpret the elements and principles of design as they relate to 3-D areas, such as retail display spaces. Students will examine careers in visual merchandising and fashion promotion by experimenting with window and in-store display, creating merchandising floor plans for retail, styling still-photography shoots and creating fashion runway looks with garments. Students will identify current local and global trends in apparel, display, advertising and promotion as it pertains to the fashion industry.

Prerequisites: FMRK 1205

Co-requisites: FASN 1150 or FMRK 1150 FASN 1150 or FMRK 1150

FMRK 2115 CR-3

Fashion Forecasting

Students will engage in examination of historical fashion trends to determine how influences such as politics, economics, social and cultural movements impact the evolution of apparel and textiles. Through analysis of consumer trends and market segmentation, students will research applicable influences from areas such as design, art, music, architecture and lifestyle. Students will present a visual, verbal, and written proposed forecast with a rationale, based on interpretation and resulting analysis.

Prerequisites: FMRK 1205

FMRK 2120 CR-3Fashion Writing

Students will examine techniques for effective writing in the context of fashion marketing and promotion. Students will practice various fashion writing techniques such as show reporting, web writing, print and broadcast advertising, public relations copy, and editorial content in newspapers and magazines. Students will apply research, critical thinking, and writing skills using case studies and industry profiles

Prerequisites: FMRK 1205 and (FASN 1215 or FMRK 1215)

FMRK 2205 CR-3Fashion Buying

Students will expand their knowledge of the retail industry including development and distribution of consumer apparel products. They will examine the financial aspects of merchandising including pricing strategies, sales planning and purchasing of retail inventories. Students will also analyze merchandise control, productivity assessment, and in-store presentation.

Prerequisites: (ACCT 1110 or ACCT 1130 or ACCT 2293) and FMRK 2105 and FMRK 2115

FMRK 2215 CR-3Fashion Events and Promotions

Students will learn to organize and manage a fashion event including: event project management, research and design of on-site coordination, logistics, budgeting, promotion, fundraising, and evaluating the event's success. They will determine venue, theme, activities and will stage the event in the semester. Students will learn about publicity and will prepare media releases, public service announcements, and event communications plans.

Prerequisites: FMRK 2120

FMRK 2240 CR-1.5Fashion Marketing Work Experience

Students will conduct a 40 hour work placement in an apparel marketing organization. They will increase their knowledge of fashion marketing practices, develop contacts in the industry and identify opportunities for their place as professionals in the field.

Prerequisites: FMRK 2105