

whimsical comfort for little girls with complex care

the jolie hart clothing line is produced for young girls, two to five years of age, who are affected by complex care medical needs

 <https://instagram.com/taylorhartdesigns>

 <https://www.facebook.com/TaylorHartDesigns>

 <https://twitter.com/taylorhart03>

 <https://taylorhartdesigns.com>

 taylorhart.designs@gmail.com

feeding tubes

wheelchair dependant

tracheostomy

sensory processing disorders

jolie hart provides:

-  self-esteem and dignity to its clients
-  its functions are discreet, yet easy for caregivers to access in public and at home
-  fit, cut and fabric of each garment is comfortable for seated children in wheelchairs either full or part-time
-  the cut of the neck and the ability to widen the neck with button closures is helpful for children with a tracheostomy
-  the fabric features and soft tags are suitable for children with sensory processing disorders

shop jolie hart online:

<https://www.etsy.com/ca/shop/TAYLORHARTDESIGNS>

jolie hart
function. style. wellness

the story behind jolie hart

"I don't believe that anyone who struggles with healthcare needs should have to worry about their clothes and when we're talking about kids – they need to stand out for their personality and not their illness."

- Taylor Byrom, owner & creative director

jolie hart
function. style. wellness

why complex care?

jolie hart started as the final line concept for Taylor's graduating year at Kwantlen Polytechnic University. with a connection to the medical industry through her grandmother's illness and volunteering with BC Children's Hospital's Miracle Weekend, Taylor identified a need and want for adaptive clothing and has made it her passion.

as the inaugural resident at KPU's Innovation space at Health Tech Innovation Foundation in Surrey's Innovation Boulevard, Taylor is designing, developing and manufacturing jolie hart. surrounded by leaders in health technology, jolie hart will bring attention to how adaptive clothing can be functional and beautiful.

designing clothing that exemplifies one's personality rather than defining it is the goal behind each jolie hart design. whimsical design, playful patterns and functional concepts mean kids can just be kids.

our jolie hart advisory council

"What a gorgeous piece! My daughter who has SPD and autism loved the feel and the fact there was no snaps or tags or buttons to get in the way. She actually began showing off her gtube for the first time since she got it almost 3 months ago. Loved the colors and fabric!"

- Fall 2015 Advisory Council Mom, Caitrin USA

"The side access to a dress in particular is so novel. My daughter has a line/tube used 24 hours a day. This NORMALLY won't allow a dress to be worn without the garment being hiked up as the line is pulled from chest/abdomen and fed into a backpack."

- Fall 2015 Advisory Council Member Mom Lisa, London England

"I found the dress super easy to put on and made access to the mic-key sight perfect. I wouldn't change a thing! I especially loved the labels because they don't stick out or scratch her back."

- Fall 2015 Advisory Council Member Mom Claudia, Vancouver BC

"I have made holes in all Naylahs winter pajama because of not easy access. Some outfits she can not wear out of the house otherwise I would have to take it all off to access the feeding tube. Not with jolie hart items...Great product. We love it and can't wait to see all new products Jolie hart will come up with. We are huge fans."

- Fall 2015 Advisory Council Member Mom Daniella, Texas USA

"We loved it! Perfect for her when she's in the chair... The option of removing the back piece is a wonderful function! Never realized how much bulk other sweaters added. The slits on the side work perfectly for her tubing. It is an incredibly well thought out piece of clothing for a girl in a chair with a tube!"

- Fall 2015 Advisory Council Member Mom
Krystal, Vancouver BC

secret garden

a quick look at the fall 2015 launch collection

for full high resolution photos or questions please contact taylor at:
taylorhart.designs@gmail.com

jolie hart
function. style. wellness