

APPLY NOW!

Application Deadline:
December 15, 2018
kpu.ca/field-schools

CONTACT INFORMATION:
internationalprograms@kpu.ca
604.599.2289

FACULTY LEADER:
Iryna Karaush
Wison School of Design
iryna.karaush@kpu.ca

Rebecca Harbut
Faculty of Science and Horticulture
rebecca.harbut@kpu.ca

Lyndsay Passmore
School of Business
Lyndsay.Passmore@kpu.ca

Field School 2019
April 20 – May 4

Where thought
meets action

ROME

Field School 2019

EXPERIENCE HIGHLIGHTS DETAILS

Experience the uniqueness of the holistic food system of Rome and its urban and rural sites, with the guidance of local agri-business professionals, local food entrepreneurs, food journalists and students from the Italian Institute of Design. The activities are designed to renew your understanding of the ecological, socio-cultural and business importance of food systems, and its complex connection between the local and global parts. Improve your skills by working in diverse teams, and applying design thinking to uncover new sustainable solutions that meet people's, and our planet's needs.

- Discover Rome!
- Visit a cheese production lab
- Tour a vineyard and winery
- Meet experts in Food and Agri-Business Design
- Visit slow food organic farms
- Explore the olive oil consortium production

This field school in Rome will be a defining moment in your time at KPU.

CLASSES OFFERED: Cross listed as DESN 2500, AGRI 2500 or BUSI 2500 – 6 credits

PRE-REQUISITE: 24 credits of 1100-level courses or higher; or permission from the Instructor.

TRAVEL DATES: April 20 to May 4, 2019

PROGRAM FEE: $3240. This includes accommodation, in-country transportation and field trips. International flight, personal expenses, and tuition are not included.

