DESCRIPTION

The Sociology Department offers a four year Bachelor of Arts, Minor in Sociology which, like the Bachelor of Arts Major in Sociology, offers critical, practical, and transformative studies in local and global approaches. This program offers exceptional learning experiences in applied settings with academic rigor and a well-rounded education in various sub-fields in the discipline.

At the lower level of our degree programs, you will gain an introduction to Sociology and a solid foundation in essential concepts, skills, and knowledge in sociological theory and research methods. Specialized area courses are offered at the 2000, 3000, and 4000 levels representing various significant sub-fields in the discipline. You may wish to take a broad range of Sociology courses or streamline their program by choosing electives for a concentration in Canadian or Global sociological studies. Sociology courses also make excellent electives to supplement programs in other disciplines.
