Dear Faculty,

We are writing to remind you that course shells for Spring 2023 were created with a hidden visibility, which means they are not yet visible to your students. During the pandemic we activated them for you and received feedback that faculty prefer to do this when they are ready. Students love it if this happens a few days before your first class as it helps them prepare. The instructions in this article, Changing the visibility of a Moodle course, will walk you through the steps of opening your course visibility.

If you need help, please contact the Service Desk at ServiceDesk@kpu.ca or submit a ticket through IT Portal

We wish you the best of luck as you begin the new semester.

Sincerely,
The Teaching & Learning Commons
