For 32 years, KPU has served its region through excellence in teaching and learning, engagement with its communities, and relevant research. It prepares graduates for careers and for global citizenship.

As the largest, and longest serving post-secondary institution in Surrey, KPU takes pride in its role to foster community growth, cultural progression, economic stability and the many factors that make our region the ideal place to live.

KPU has long recognized a critical gap in higher education south of the Fraser River. With almost half a million people in Surrey, KPU is fortunate to serve this growing population and provide for its educational needs. KPU has taken direct action to make available greater opportunities in Surrey Centre.

With over $11 billion invested in the city core since 2008, Surrey is fast becoming the largest city in British Columbia. KPU will ensure our rapidly growing city experiences the necessary progressive educational support it deserves with training in local knowledge, skills and technology.

Providing opportunities unlike any other, KPU Civic Plaza is the hub for post-secondary excellence and the ideal centre for professional development.
